

Feature Teacher: Mrs. Sotola

by: By: Elliot Shin & Julia Jung

This month our Teacher Feature is Mrs. Sotola. The first question we asked her was "What is your favorite food?" and she replied, "Anything Mexican, especially chips & Queso." Then, we asked her "When do you love your students the most?" Then She told us, " When they are kind to each other." The third question we asked her was "What collage did you go to?" and she answered, "The University of Georgia." After that, we asked her "How many years did you teach?" She replied, "12 years at Northwood." Also, we asked her "Is it hard being a teacher?" Then she told us "It's challenging balancing between a mom and a teacher." The final question we asked her was "Is this your dream job?" She answered "Yes." That is all for our October teacher feature!

BRILLANT BOOKS!!!

By: Zoe Stanish and Ella Jacobs

Are you in Kindergarten, First, or Second grade, and like funny books? Well, if you do we recommend Don't Let the Pigeon Stay Up Late by Mo Williams. It's a funny book about a pigeon who wants to stay up late but is not supposed to. Ella and I love this book and you can find it in the library.

Are you in 3rd to 5th grade and like mystery books? Well, if you do we have the perfect book for you. It's called The Name of This Book Is Secret by P. Bosch. It is a book that you have to read to find out what it's about. It has two characters named Max and Cass that go on an adventure. Zoe and I loved this book and suggest it for you in the library.

Halloween History

(information gathered from www.history.com)

By: Victoria de Oliveira & Victoria Bustillos

- One quarter of the candy sold annually in the U.S. is purchased for Halloween.
- On October 31, they thought ghosts came back from the dead so, they put food and money on their doorstep so the ghosts would not enter.
- In Mexico they celebrate El dia de los Muertos from Oct 31-Nov 2 to honor and remember family and friends who have passed away.

We hope you learned something fun about Halloween history!!

Fall Decor

By: Laycee and Alisa

Aren't you excited for fall? Well we're going to get you ready for fall and Halloween! Today we will be making Mason jar jack-o-lanterns. You will need a mason jar, orange paint, a black sharpie, and a battery operated candle. Take your mason jar and paint it orange, then let it dry. Next make a face with the sharpie. Put your candle inside and watch it light up!!

College Football

By: Maya, Kate, and Ellie

This month's football team is
The Georgia Bulldogs!!

- They got their name from Georgia fans, they would say, "Eat 'em up, Georgia," with a bulldog tearing a piece of cloth. (see above)
- The Georgia Bulldog's coach is Kirby Smart
- They beat Missouri 53-28
- The Bulldogs played their first game in 1892.
- They have won 6 national titles in their 123-year history, but only 2 of them claimed on the field
- They are not called "dogs", they are called DAWGS!!!!
- Their last win earned them the third spot ranking in the nation.
- The Georgia Bulldogs crushed Tennessee 41-0

Stay tuned for the next edition of College Football! Go Dawgs!

Ωηατ ισ ψουρ φαπωριτε Η αλλοωεεν χανδυ?

By: Addy Kate Dusang

There are lots of different types of Halloween candy. One of them is War Heads. War Heads have a sour taste at first then it turns sweet. It is a hard candy. Another candy is M&M's and chocolate. M&M's and chocolate are basically the same thing. They both are chocolate, but M&M's have a hard colorful coating on top. The next candy is Skittles. Skittles are a colorful chewy candy which is flavored to taste like fruit. You also can have Nerds as a Halloween candy. Nerds are like Skittles but are a little smaller and taste a little different. They also come in a little box. One last candy for Halloween is Kit-Kats. Kit-Kats have a crunchy cookie inside and a chocolatey cover. They also break apart to make two sticks instead of one whole candy bar. Have fun choosing your favorite Halloween candy!
