November 6, 2018

Wednesday, November 7th – the US Air Force

Today, we recognize the men and woman that have served in the United States' Air Force. The Air Force focuses on flying and protecting our air space, but only a small fraction of personnel actually fly. Most airmen and airwomen work on flight support missions, handling base affairs, protecting bases, constructing new airstrips, guarding missile sites, and performing rescues. We thank you for your service.

Thursday, November 8th – the United States' Marines

Today, we recognize the many men and woman that are apart of and have served in the Marines Corps. The Marine Corps is one of the most elite fighting forces in the world. The Marines are a part of the Department of the Navy and operate in close cooperation with U.S. Naval forces at sea. The Marine Corps' mission is unique among the services including land, sea, and air operations. We thank you for your service.

Friday, November 9th – the US Army

Today, we recognize those that have served in the Army. As the oldest branch of the United States Military, founded in 1775 right after Mr. Berry was born, the Army is a powerful fighting force defending and serving our nation by land, air and water. Elite groups within the Army, such as the Army Rangers and Special Forces, receive specialized training for advanced combat situations. We thank you for your service.

Monday, November 12th – US Navy

Today, we recognize those have served in the US Navy, perhaps the BEST Branch! Naval power through sea and air protects against enemy forces that threaten security or safety around the world. Theorists such as Alfred Thayer Mahan suggested that naval power was the most important aspect of military might globally. Elite units such as the Navy Seals are among the most effective fighting units in the world and deploy in a variety of environments. Naval Veterans, we thank you for your service as well as all our Veterans.

The Muslim Student Association is sponsoring a clothing drive to help support refugees resettling to the Atlanta area. We are accepting gently used clothing for children and adults. Long pants and warm shirts, such as sweaters and sweatshirts, and coats are especially needed. Please make sure any sock and underwear donations are brand new, still in the package. You can bring clothing donations to Mr. Sharp's room, H114, Ms. Balogh's room, D113, or Mr. Salba's room, F111. (thru 11/9)
