The Fulton County ballot for General Election on November 6, 2018 includes a constitutional amendment for consideration. Some in our community have asked what impact this amendment could have on the Fulton School District. In response to those questions, we offer the following information.

A ‘YES’ vote would allow one or more municipalities to apply for annexation of the Fulton Industrial District. If annexed by the city of Atlanta, Fulton County Schools could lose up to $7 to 10.5 million each year, as the property would no longer be within the Fulton school district boundaries.

A ‘NO’ vote would maintain the current situation in which Fulton Industrial District cannot be annexed.
