Riverwood International Charter School Special Educational Needs Policy

Riverwood fully implements and supports in all ways the Special services for Individuals with Disabilities Education Act (IDEA). The school executes differentiation, inclusion, and scaffolding to bridge prior knowledge and new knowledge. This bridge affirms a student’s identity and builds self-esteem while allowing for fair access to rigor and enrichment through a variety of clubs and extended learning opportunities to show growth and mastery over time. Special Services such as ESOL, TAG, and Services for Exceptional Children will offer accommodations and modifications to enhance a student’s learning through the following: ESOL, Language Plans, and IEPs.

Riverwood follows the policies put in place by federal law, as well as state and district regulations. That means each student is treated fairly by considering his/her physical, emotional or academic need. Teachers and parents work together as a team to develop accommodations and supports to give each student an opportunity to reach his/her highest potential level of success.

Riverwood offers a variety of options for students with special needs including self-contained classes, co-taught classes, supportive instruction classes and general education classes where the teachers follow the students' specific accommodations and/or modifications to meet students’ individual needs.

MYP gives access to all students. As such, students with disabilities in each level of classes, complete summative assessments in the spirit of the IB, meaning the teacher makes necessary adjustments while still maintaining the framework of IB and the state-mandated curriculum and assessments.

IB Diploma courses are available to all students. IB Diploma and Course candidates with special needs are accommodated by teachers as required by their individual IEP or 504 plans and according to approvals by IBO. When a candidate registers for diploma courses, the DP coordinator obtains parent permission to request inclusive assessment arrangements and files that request with IBO. Any approved accommodations are shared with teachers who implement the accommodations for class assessment. The DP coordinator ensures that all candidates with approved accommodations receive these accommodations during IB examinations.
